Caprari's sustainability report wins CSR award

Caprari, an industrial group specialized in high efficiency pumping solutions for the integrated water cycle, has been awarded the Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) 2010 award for its sustainability report, from Modena Province, Italy, where the company's headquarters is located. A sustainability report records and measures the environmental, social and economic performance of an enterprise, where responsibility for this performance is assumed in relation to the stakeholders, all with a view to achieving the sustainable development goal.
