

Caprari opens new factory in China

20 July 2010

Caprari SpA has inaugurated Caprari Pumps Shanghai Co Ltd to directly supply the Chinese market with Caprari products and after-sales service.

Caprari Pumps Shanghai, located just south of Shanghai Pudong international airport, is a new 3500 sq m factory which will initially manufacture wastewater products for the local Chinese and Asian markets. Longer term, Caprari Pumps Shanghai will manufacture components for Caprari products to be sold in global markets.

The new Caprari factory houses production lines, quality control, testing and logistics management. The new “Modular Pump Lab”, where the electric pumps are tested, is like a real control room and can be expanded by modules according to its electrical and hydraulic testing capacities.

This article is featured in:

Water and Wastewater

Caprari's new factory in Shanghai, China

The new Caprari Modular Pump Lab in Shanghai, China